

Standard Park

A type of nature park found on Abwehran Stations that is similar in design to parks found in urban environments back on abwehr. This usually means a pleasant area about two to four square kilometers in area. The basic design involves a central lake with aquatic life surrounded by grassy land and a variety of trees. While stations may customize the design to their liking, though this usual involves species of plants and animals as well as the amount of lakes and size of the park itself.

The purpose of most the standard nature park is to provide a nice area for gatherings or relaxing without the hustle and bustle of athletic events. Benches are place sporadically through the nature park with a single playground available for young children. Fishing is acceptable at the park's lakes, but only if it is catch and release.
