Distribution

Grenades are stocked and distributed in large protective cases made of Titanium with a heavily padded interior. Each case contains 75 grenades of the same type stacked in three trays of five by five. Each Case has a safety mechanism which releases Liquid Nitrogen into the interior when a possible malfunction has occurred in a grenade. Though this wastes the entire case of grenades over a mere possibility, it is much better than losing an armory. Each crate is colored and labeled the same way the individual grenade is for ease of identification.
