

Zu'Rel's Blade

This sword created by Zu'Rel Tar'Vas for personal use, and the use by Neshaten soldiers and citizens alike. It was created in ER 001, and made available later that same year.

The Zu'rel Blade was designed by Zu'rel for his personal use, taking the lines from a basic brush cutting blade, this sword was elongated and a handle designed to the liking of Zu'rel himself. Its particular forward swept blade allows for more force to be projected on the target than a standard straight blade.

Made out of titanium, and reinforced using a carbon-fiber material, the sword is made tough and durable. Its blade is sharp enough to cut into most fabrics, even Kevlar, but can be dulled quickly after continued use.

This blade was designed to use a lot of the same construction techniques as the standard issued Seta'sis Sword. So that the cost could be kept down and to utilize the same quality that Seta'sis Sword has.

All Zu'Rel Blade comes with cleaning and repair kits to help keep the sword in top condition.

Military Application

Because the Neshaten still hold true to their old ways of swordsmanship combat, the Volunteer Military mandates that all soldiers carry a sword with them at all times, the Zu'Rel Blade is an Option. It can either be carried by its scabbard on a soldier's belt, or by a strap that lets them hang it off their back.

For the military, their Zu'Rel Blade are stored with a scabbard made out of a leather-like material that has their duty-stations emblem etched into the side.

Civilian Application

For Civilians, the Zu'Rel Blade is used as a form of self-defense weapon but also in gladiatorial tournaments. Unlike the military, Civilians have a tendency to modify their swords to suit their personal tastes so many of these swords exist with varying degrees of modifications done to them.

Civilian scabbards are made out of a light-weight metallic material.

OOC

Currently there is only one of these blades owned by Zu'Rel Tar'Vas himself.
