

Ryuha (竜歯)

A long 100cm blade sword designed exclusively for use by Ume Hatoyama. The blade is single edged straight sword made with a handle long enough to be wielded by a power armor. Along the length of the blade are energy emitters that project aether energy along the blade for extra damage in power armor combat. There are also emitters designed to be used as boosters to increase swing speed. The weapon can be attached to a power armor to charge the battery or draw energy from it instead.

Classification

- Type: Sword (power armor use)
- Size: 130cm
- Mass: 5kg

Components

- Yamataium
- Molecular Knit
- Massive
- Power Blade (aether)
- Booster (powerful enough to maneuver a MINDY)
- Battery

Use The boosters on the sword are the main power draw, but they take time to reach top speed. However they can easily produce superhuman speed slashes that create the illusion of a white crescent, like a large fang. After these swings it's best not to force another swing because of the momentum, and the massive energy consumption. However the sword can still be used with the boosters at lower power, which is more manageable and better suited for extended combat.

Total Cost: 3100ks (including battery)
