

Hanako Military Museum

The Hanako Military Museum is a museum that hosts the private  Militaria collection of Hanako. It contains items such as ship patches, rank pins, hats, and guns, which were used in the Star Army of Yamatai and other forces. It is located in Ketsurui no Iori, Yamatai \(Planet\).

Relics

- 2 Priceless Lorath religious icons
 - One of the icons is a large drum, two meters wide at the top, one meter in height, decorated with woven lengths of silver with diamonds, rubies, sapphires, and emeralds in succession along the hoop which holds the drum-head. The silver wire components are used to hold together blackened lengths of wood which make up the drum shell. The drum-head itself would likely be an aged leather, very robust and plush to the touch. Sound would be comparable to a bass drum mixed with a taiko drum.

- The other is an ancient urn made of deep red marble and encrusted with gold and mother-of-pearl decor. It contains 300-year-old Lorath wine and is inscribed with the name of a popular princess of that era.
- Polished Marble Statuette
- An Ivory Amphora inlaid with Platinum
