History

In the vast expanse of the galaxy, where countless star systems twinkle with possibilities, the Mining Guild emerged as a key player in the interstellar trade. At the helm of their diplomatic endeavors stood Alice Sursilvan, a shrewd negotiator and the Corporate Diplomatic Ambassador for the Mining Guild. Her journeys took her from the bustling hubs of commerce to the serene worlds of diplomacy, forging alliances and securing resources for the Guild's ever-expanding interests.

One such mission beckoned Alice to the Yamatai Star Empire, a formidable power in the galactic landscape. The occasion was the International Relations Conference, a gathering of diplomats and dignitaries from across the stars, convened to foster understanding and cooperation among the various factions.

Departing from the New Dusk Conclave, a hub of innovation and trade, Alice set course for Yamatai with determination in her heart and diplomacy on her mind. Upon her arrival, she was greeted with customary Yamataian hospitality, the ornate halls of the Imperial Palace serving as the backdrop for the conference.

As discussions unfolded and alliances were forged, Alice recognized the need for a permanent foothold in Yamatai. The Satoh Apartments, renowned for their elegance and strategic location, caught her eye. Known in Yamataigo as Satoh Doeringu, these apartments offered not only a residence for Alice but also alternate venues for hosting crucial meetings and negotiations.

With astute negotiation skills, Alice secured the Satoh Apartments for the Mining Guild, ensuring a presence in the heart of Yamatai's political and economic landscape. The spacious halls and meticulously manicured gardens provided an ideal setting for diplomatic endeavors, fostering dialogue and understanding among the diverse factions of the galaxy.

Meanwhile, within the ranks of the Mining Guild, winds of change were blowing. Astrid Kurosaki, the CEO of the guild, saw her daughter Sora ascend to prominence. Endowed with keen intellect and unwavering determination, Sora was chosen as the Yamataian Branch Head of the Mining Guild, entrusted with overseeing the Guild's interests in the region.

In a gesture of camaraderie and collaboration, Alice extended an offer to share the Satoh Apartments with Sora, a Rabbit anthro known for her sharp wit and boundless energy. Together, they transformed the apartments into a bustling hub of activity, where ideas flowed freely and alliances were strengthened.

Through their joint efforts, Alice and Sora forged a bond that transcended borders and boundaries, laying the foundation for a new era of cooperation between the Mining Guild and the Yamatai Star Empire. As they navigated the complexities of interstellar politics and diplomacy, their partnership stood as a testament to the power of collaboration in shaping the destiny of the galaxy.
