

Tröll

Trölls are native to Yamatai \(Planet\), inhabiting the colder northern parts of the main continent.

Species:	Tröll
Home Planet:	Yamatai (Planet)
Government:	Yamatai Star Empire

Appearance

Huge and rugged in appearance, the Trölls generally stand eight to thirteen feet in height, and weigh around half a ton or more. Trölles have cracked, dry gray skin with very short hairs on it, but no hair on their heads. Trölles may also have lichens, moss, or mold growing on them and this often causes them to have a faint odor of mildew.

Culture

Trölles follow a decidedly Old Norse culture, based on the ancient Vikings, including the Old Norse language. A society that values honor, bravery, and cunning, the Trölles are generally wary of outsiders, but occasionally some of them will venture out of the mountains of Norfrost and Kôriyama and interact with modern society.

Military

Nearly every Tröll is trained from a young age in the arts of war. Their militia is controlled and composed of a system of warrior guilds which form alliances, each responsible for some element of protection of Tröll lands. The Star Army of Yamatai also defends the planet. Some trolls have joined the Star Army and can be seen in infantry units, and occasionally, starships.

Politics

Tröll Guild Leaders hold most of the political power for the local government, while most Trolls have equal voting on the national level (the Star Army of Yamatai).

Industry

Trölles excel in armorcraft, low-tech weaponry, and basic construction.
