Fielded by:	New Dusk Conclave

About

A single room compartment, it contains space for storing most standard New Dusk Conclave Infantry equipment. The size of each armory's inventory depends on the size of the room itself, but it is usually meant to supply military units the size of a platoon. To enter the armory, crewmen must have orders from the ship's captain, its XO, or the officer overseeing supplies.

Layout

An NDC Armory is shaped like a rectangle. Each wall has storage lockers running the length of two of the walls, with each assigned to an individual soldier. These lockers store any small arms and body armor assigned to the soldier.

Explosives and other heavy weapons are kept in a separate, heavily secured, caged-off area opposite the armory's main entrance which requires an officer to unlock it via geist.

Battlefield medical supplies are also stored in the armory, kept stocked on the wall which has the armory's main entrance. In cases where power armor is stored in the armory, it is kept on racks running down the center of the room.
